

Oil or Beer which will peak first?

Jonathan Horsfield has recently attended the 10th International Conference of ASPO (the Association for the Study of Peak Oil and Gas) in Vienna. Jonathan will share what he learnt in Vienna - and in other recently published articles and books.

You can expect to hear about - ASPO and who else believes PO is real; a (slightly) more technical perspective on oil production; on conventional and unconventional reserves; on the extent to which shale oil / gas CAN reduce the challenges ahead, and more
